Cliques

A clique is a group of people who interact with each other more regularly and intensely than others in the same setting. Interacting with cliques is part of normative social development regardless of gender, ethnicity, or popularity. Although cliques are most commonly studied during adolescence and middle childhood, they exist in all age groups. Generally people in a clique will not have a completely open friend group, and they can "ban" members of the clique if they do something deemed to be unacceptable, such as talking to someone generally disliked by the clique. People that are part of a clique are bonded together through shared and /or similar social characteristic such as race, ethnicity, economic status, physical appearance, etc.

- Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Types of High School Cliques

Geeks - a group of students described as being intellectual, obsessive, or socially impaired.

Jocks - live for athletics, tend to be popular with many of their peers.

Thespians - the teens who are obsessed with Broadway musicals and more than likely aspire to do theater professionally,

Skaters - skateboarders who came along & borrowed the long hair and slacker trappings of the surf scene, but they have always been more rebellious.

Outsiders - may be socially challenged and unable to fit in, or they may be independent and feel no need to join any one group exclusively.

Preps - a sub-genre of the popular clique, Preps tend to be good at being social and having fun & usually come from an upper middle or upper-class family.

Nerds - they are obsessed and often have superior knowledge or devotion to something, usually aren't fashion-conscious, may be introverted, and they often do well in school.

Emo kids — highly emotional. Their emotions are reflected in their appearance: dark clothing, streaked bangs, and tattoos and piercings.

Rockers — tend to stay away from the crowd and in small groups with similar interests in music.

Mean girls — They always embrace the latest fashions. They form exclusive cliques and frequently engage in gossip. They crave popularity, often because they feel insecure; yet they have a hard time with genuine relationships.

-Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Rockers mix with jocks, Edwin Stevenson, Jacob Stone, Cameron Woodbury, Mitchell Todd, Kyle Ford, and Jordan Christopherson join together to eat in the band room.

Hanging with the squad, Tori Ramont, Jack Wagher, Ashley Yenor, Liz Keller, Meridith Logston, and Alexis Michael share a few laughs at lunch.

Two groups collide, in the hallway Max Nuckles walks towards Nick Gainey and Josh Stinson, while Nicole Kirlin and Dakota Talbot laugh with each other by their lockers.

Three's a charm, Tristen Walline, Hannah Lawrence, and Arika Glisan have their own crazy clique and enjoy hanging out together.

Your clique is your high school squad, Collin Webster, Brooke Murzyn, and Maisy Vincent stand in the hallway after school talking about their day.

Building towards the Future

Ryley Rusk, Charlie Lanier, and Zach Hines joined the building trades class which is run by Galva High School. When asked about the program the men said that they have learned how to make steps, shingle, drywall, insulation, j-trim, and f-channel to name a few. When asked what tools they should always have for this class they responded with a pencil, a tape measure, and a square. They were also asked what they have learned from this class, Rylev and Zach both said it has taught them about house structure and building. When Zach was asked how he will use the skills he has learned in his everyday life he replied to work and earn money and Ryley replied that by using these skills he will be able to make his own house repairs and save money by doing so. Charlie said his favorite part of the class was the fact that they had lots of hands on opportunities instead of just sitting in a class room, Ryley's favorite part of the class was picking up new skills and Zach said mudding drywall was a great experience. The three men enjoyed attending this class on a daily basis and recommend it to others that enjoy building.

Exterior trim, Zach Hines uses the chop saw to cut the trim for the porch ceiling.

Measure twice, cut once, Charlie Lanier helps to measure the siding used on the house he is helping to build.

Two Thumbs up, Ryley Rusk gives a thumbs up to the camera as he helps put the ceiling up on the porch.

Living the life year book style

Dawson Anderson: My life in Pictures & Words

What has it been like to be a part of the yearbook for half of his life? It has really been benefited me so far in all of my experiences. I've learned how to become a better photographer, design and create yearbooks, meet deadlines, and work on writing and interviewing skills.

How did you first get involved in yearbook? My mom would be working at home on the book and ask for my input then I attended a training in Galesburg with the high school staff when I was in 7th grade and have been helping ever since.

What has been your favorite part of being involved with yearbook? Getting to work with a great staff and yearbook rep. Jim Straub. Field trips to the plant are also a fun part of yearbook.

Do you see yourself doing anything in the future with photography or writing? I enjoy participating and watching sports so maybe sports journalism would be in the future for me.

Do you think that yearbook will be in any of your other family members future? My sister Lauren works on the JH memory book now and loves taking pictures for the books. Also, my younger brother Owen likes to take pictures.

The Gift of Life life decisions

Teen Mom

At the start of her sophomore year Meagan Underwood was looking forward to playing in the band, softball, driving, and hanging with friends. However, a little bit into the second semester she found out that things wouldn't go as planned.

Sophomore year started out normal. She was practicing for marching band, hanging with friends, and taking driver's education. When second semester rolled around Meagan found out she was going to be a mother, 15 and pregnant.

While other students were figuring out what classes to take next year, she was trying to figure out how to tell her parents that she was pregnant and what she should do. Meagan had to grow up in a hurry and decided her future and the future of her baby.

While trying to make the choice of what to do news began to spread around school fast that she was pregnant. News got about her being pregnant got back to her parents before she could tell them. When her family found out some of them wouldn't even talk to her, some still don't talk to her to this day. When news of her pregnancy spread her friends where shocked and she even began to lose some of them.

Meagan began her Junior year eight months pregnant but ready for the challenges ahead of her. In mid September Meagan gave birth to a little boy, Camdin. From the moment she saw him she knew her life would revolve around this little boy forever.

Nervous to return to school and not wanting to leave Cam at home, Meagan returned and found that students where curious to know about Cam and what it was like to be a teen mom. She explained to students that it is not easy and that she is often exhausted and that it is hard keeping up with her classes.

Meagan's senior year she was back on track and making future plans. Meagan works two jobs, attends CNA classes, and is a full time student and mom. She says that it has not been easy but has definitely been worth it. Meagan is happy with her life and how it turned out. Camdin has changed her life for the best. Donors

Students and staff have donated not only blood but some have even donated organs. Our very own math teacher, Mr. Stone, donated a kidney to his dad and our principal, Mr. Reagan, donated a kidney to his sister. During the annual FFA and NHS blood drives this year there was over 50 units of blood collected.

Bonding, Meagan Underwood and Camdin enjoy a fun day at the park together.

Ready, Set, Aim

As many Cambridge kids gear up to head out and hunt for a big one, we asked them a few questions on what they use to hunt with and what they do to prepare for the hunt. Hunters must obtain a hunting license and species-specific permit no matter the season or weather or not they are a resident of Illinois,

Hunting in Illinois offers a diverse range of landscapes and species for hunters, from bow hunting to muzzle loaders and dove to deer.

An average hunter spends $2,484 every year on this sport. The best time to hunt is during dusk and dawn when the deer are more active. Many kids like to go hunting when its a little colder but not below freezing. Deer prefer humidity between 40 and 50.
Coyote, Stripped Skunk and Woodchuck can be hunted all year. Many kids prefer deer and coon season over anything else.

FIRST DATES

finding true friendship

FIRST DATES

Many of the students at Cambridge are involved in relationships. Whether they are with students here or from other schools, high school relationships are not uncommon.

WHAT WAS YOUR FIRST DATE?

"Travis and I started dating the night of the homecoming bonfire on September 20th of 2012." Hunter Nelson, a junior, says. "The following Saturday we went on our first date." Hunter and Travis Kane have been dating for over three years, although some relationships are fairly new. Max Nuckles and his girlfriend, Mallery Pearson from Stark County, have been dating for just over a year. "We watched a movie together and played board games." Max Nuckles says about his first date. "It was very fun and I enjoyed it very much." David Stinson and Renee Fortino's first date was a simple Summer walk around town. "I thought it went great." He said.

Mackenzie Coziahr and Cameron Woodbury went to Buffalo Wild Wings on their first date. "It was after his game, we had gotten our very first picture together, and he turned to me and asked if I would like to go out with him that night to eat. It was so fun and he was so sweet! I believe I was in my Jr High cheerleading uniform because we left from an away school and I did not have anything else to change into since it was a surprise!" Mackenzie Coziahr and Cameron Woodbury have also been together over three years.

WHAT WAS THE MOST MEMORABLE MOMENT?

Mackenzie Coziahr says "I don't really have a most memorable moment just because it's so hard to remember that long ago, I do remember loving the fact that we laughed a lot together and had fun. He was very nice the whole time and we were always laughing, which we both enjoy to do so much."

For Max Nuckles, "It was definitely playing the board game, even though he did not win it was still fun."

Marissa Johnson's moment was "sitting in the movie theater and his parents throwing popoorn at us. It was funny and they got in trouble for throwing it".

BAD DATE EXPERIENCES

Some experiences are better than others. "My first date was my worst experience, It was really awkward." Marissa Johnson, a senior, says about her first date. "I expected it to go a different way." Kelsey Todd, another senior, also had an awkward first date experience. "We went to the movies and then out to eat at Stake 'n Shake. It was supposed to be a group date but the others flaked out so it ended up just being the two of us. It was super awkward, and it seemed like we only said about 10 words to each other the whole night"!

DREAM DATE?

Kelsey Todd says her dream is a nice surprise date. "I would absolutely love it if a guy told me a time to be dressed and ready then picked me up to go to town and have a very nice and elegant dinner. We would finish eating and then back home to have dessert already made and relax with some down time back at home. I think that would be the ultimate dream date because it is very classy and you can not go wrong with dinner and dessert."

"Going out for a picnic in a park on a beautiful spring day" is Marissa Johnson's dream date.

Travis and Hunter share their dream date. "We would love to have a picnic on the beach and watch the sunset because we have never been to the beach together."

Stage presence talent shines

Talent shines on stage with Tristan Akers. We have many talented people on our stage, and of course Tristan is one, Tristan has had many laughs in his seven years on stage. He has been a part of 12 productions while at CHS. The productions Tristan has been involved in were Bye Bye Birdie- Extra The Sound of Music-Uncle Max Up the Down Staircase-Lou Annie-Bert Heals & FDR Tom Sawyer-Tom Sawyer Alice in Wonderland- Mad Hatter Les Miserables-Jean Valjean Cinderella-The King Cheaper by the Dozen-One of the kids And Then There Were None-Judge Wargrave Just Another High School Musical- Assorted characters Parents Just Do not Understand- Assorted characters Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory- Willy Wonka

Tristan's favorite memory from being on stage was being a murderer. His favorite part about being on stage is, "Being funny and getting laughs." Tristan says the hardest part about being in plays is memorizing his lines on time. The most challenging part about bringing the script to life is, "The hand motions, facial expressions, and stage movements." The funniest moment Tristan said he had on stage was, "When I messed up my last line in, And Then There Were None, for the sake of a joke."

Theater is not all fun and games, it takes a lot of work too. Tristan gets ready for a role by reading his script completely. He prepares for auditions by practicing his lines with his parents. Tristan says the hardest thing about makeup is, "Putting on eve liner."

Tristan has made many memories on stage, he started acting at age 11. He says his favorite character to be was, Jean Valjean because I like the musical." Tristan says his favorite show was, "Les Miserables because it has a base in historical fact." Tristan did have an on stage kiss but he said it was not weird because it was with his at the time girlfriend. Tristan also likes to play cards backstage with other cast mates. Tristan said he was going to miss hanging out with friends at rehearsal.

Of course Tristan has a life outside of theater, Tristan says when he is not doing theater, "I watch Netflix, read books, and hang." Tristan said he has not done any theater outside of school, but he might be interested, it depends on the production. When asked if he was planning on doing theater after high school he said, "Have not decided." Tristan said he would like to do Phantom of the Opera because the music is great. Tristan thinks he is the funniest out of all the cast members. He said if someone were going to play him in a movie it would be, "James Spader because he is very good at playing comedic characters."

rom stress to uncontrollable laughter, theater kids make the scripts come to life for people in this small town. One of our many talented cast members is Eddie Stevenson. Eddie has had great memories with friends in his four years of theater. He started acting at the age of 15. Eddie has been a part of six productions while at CHS. The productions Eddie has been in were, And Then There Were None- Thomas Rogers The Sound of Music-Rolf Tom Sawyer-Ben Rogers Les Miserables-The Priest Cinderella- The Herald Alice in Wonderland- The King

Eddie's favorite character to play was Thomas Rogers because he liked the character and his favorite show was, "And Then There Were None, because of the small cast and the good personalities the performers had." He said that if he could do any show he would like to do Phantom of the Opera because it is really entertaining.

Eddie said his favorite memory from being on stage was, "When I dyed my hair blond but the first time it turned red." He also said one of the funniest moments was, "When another actor fell on the stairs."

Eddie stated that being in plays is hard work. There is a lot that goes on backstage before you even get on stage. Makeup has always been a problem for him. He says that the hardest thing about makeup is, "When people try to put objects near my eyes." It can also be extremely hard to bring a script to life, Eddie says, "The hardest part is to show emotions on your face that are not your own," There is a lot of pressure to make sure things go well on stage. You have to make sure your stage directions and lines are memorized. Before Eddie goes out on stage he goes over his lines and motions and gets into character by hiding his real emotions. The way people act on stage compared to real life are completely different, Eddie thinks that the funniest person from cast in real life is Tristan Akers. Many people use acting as a hobby, others use it as a job. When Eddie was asked if he planned on being in theater after high school he said, "I do not plan on doing any more, but who knows, maybe something will come up,"

Boys will be boys, Tom Sawyer played by Tristan Akers always wants to have fun and never work.

Sing for me, Tristan Akers as Uncle Max in The Sound of Music played a singing game with the children.

Dancing into your heart, Eddie Stevenson as Rolf danced and sang about his love for Liesl.

The prince is giving a ball, as the royal Herold Eddie Stevenson gave the news about the prince throwing a ball.

The stage at Cambridge High School would not be the same without Kyle Ford. Kyle has made great memories and friends over his last 7 years on stage. Kyle has been in 9 productions while at Cambridge High School. These productions include:

Wizard of Oz Bye Bye Birdie

Cheaper by the Dozen

The Sound of Music- Captain Von Trapp And Then There Were None- Captain Lombard

Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory- Grandpa Joe

Tom Sawyer- Huck Finn Les Miserables- Javert Up the Down Staircase Cinderella- The Prince

Kyle's favorite show was "And Then There Were None," His favorite character was Captain Lombard because, "I liked acting cocky and not caring about anything." Kyle says his favorite memory from being on stage is "Hearing the audience cheer at the end." Kyle says his funniest moment on stage was, "Almost slipping and falling on stage during the performance of Les Miserables" Kyle's favorite part about being on stage is acting out a character.

It is tough to be on stage, you have a lot of pressure put on you to do well. Kyle says memorizing the lines is the hardest part about being in plays. Kyle says he practices to make sure he has his lines down. Kyle says the hardest part about bringing the script to life is, "having to be someone you are not." Kyle says he gets ready for an audition by going over lines numerous times. He even looks over lines before going out on to stage. And of course the makeup, every guys worst nightmare, Kyle says the hardest part about makeup is, "All of it."

It is fun to be a part of theater, there are a lot of memories made on stage and backstage. Kyle says he is going to miss,"The friends and fun times we had at practices." He loves making jokes backstage with friends, he also thinks he is the funniest out of all the cast. Kyle also makes memories on stage, with every character he has been, he has even had two on stage kisses. Kyle started acting at age 10 but says he does not plan to go on after high school. Kyle said he would like to do "The Phantom of the Opera."

Pure imagination,

Lights, Camera, Action

Before the lights go on and the action starts, let's go behind the scenes with Jack Wagher. Jack has been apart of theater for 6 years and has been part of 10 shows. Jack started off on stage but then moved backstage. When asked what his favorite show was he said, "My favorite was definitely Bye Bye Birdie, I can still sing those songs like it was yesterday."

Jack does almost everything, but he said his favorite was, "Setting all the flats up, mostly because I finally get to see my product." He says a lot of work goes into being in stage crew. They usually make and paint everything. They have about a month to put everything together for the show. Jack says the most important thing about stage crew is, "Making the best of what we have already on stage, saving money is the ultimate goal!" But to him the hardest part is the limited amount of time they have to build such amazing sets. His favorite part of being in stage crew is, "Seeing how quickly I can build the stage in such a short amount of time."

Jack says there really are not any special skills needed for being on stage crew, but knowing how to use a drill and having an artistic eye does help. When asked if he had to interview to get on stage crew or be stage manager he said, "No, it is kind of a seniority thing. One of the most important things he learned from stage crew was that, not all people need to be on stage. When asked if he was planning on going into theater after high school he said, "No, but I do plan on volunteering to help after I am gone."

Spotlight shines, stage crew manager Jack Wagher shows off his drill that he uses to build the sets.

We're So Proud

Wyatt Kirlin has decided to enlist in the United States Navy to serve our country. He did this by talking to a Navy recruiter that came to the high school to talk with the students about possibly enlisting. Wyatt talked with the recruiter and his parents and he went with his aut instinct and enlisted to the United States Naw. Wyatt did not have to meet any requirements before he could enlist in the Naw. He has considered going into the Navy for a little over a year.

The job he is planning to specialize in is called "CSS" otherwise known as Culinary Specialist Submarine. The "CSS" is also known as a Navy cook, Wyatt said this job could change but as of now that will be his job. Wyatt will leave for basic training on August 17th and travel to Chicago, Illinois and be gone for seven and a half weeks.

After Wyatt completes basic training he will then go to school for nine weeks then a submarine school for four more weeks. He says that during this time he will miss his family and friends the most while he is away at basic training. When Wyatt completes his basic training and schooling he will then be stationed to his permit battle station on a submarine.

The physical training Wyatt is doing now to prepare himself before basic training would consist of extra exercises such as push ups, curl ups, and running. Wyatt does 100 push-ups and 80 curl ups every other day then runs one and a half miles at least once a week. He plans on making it through basic by setting goals for himself and staying positive throughout the whole experience.

There is some military history in Wyatt's family, Wyatt's grandparents were in the reserve. Wyatt says his family is "alright" with his enrollment into the Navy. He says that joining the United States Navy will affect his life by opening more doors for his future. We wish you the best of luck with your military life!

Caleb Sipp has decided to enlist in the United States Marine Corps because he likes it and his life has always revolved around it for as long as he could remember. Caleb has had multiple family members in the military for a total of over 50 years of service. Caleb's grandfather Jack and two other family members were in the Navy.

Caleb decided to enlist in the Marines after meeting with a recruiter during one of their school visits. When Caleb came to the decision that this is what he wanted to do, the recruiter then came to the house to talk with his mother and him about enlisting. Caleb made the choice to enlist on October 5, 2015. He has wanted to be in the Marines since he was a young boy.

Caleb chose the Marines because he feels they are the most intense branch of the military. Caleb will leave for 13 weeks of basic training in San Diego, California on July 25, 2016. When basic training is completed Caleb will then come home for ten days of leave then go to MOS school, otherwise known as Military or Service school. When Caleb completes all of his training he hopes to be stationed in Iraq with the infantry.

To prepare for basic training Caleb has been working out by running, lifting weights, and doing push-ups and sit-ups daily. Caleb has also been attending warrior night in Galesburg which helps prepare you for basic. The requirements to join the Marines include passing the ASVAB test which stands for Arms Service Vocational Aptitude Battery and passing a physical and mental screenings, as well as a background check. Caleb is planning on making it through basic training by working hard each and every day. The things Caleb feels he will miss the most while he is gone is his family and friends.

When asked what Caleb hopes to get out of the Marines he responded with he just wants to protect his country. Caleb feels that the military will help him be stronger and that he will be a strong supporter of the United States of America. Caleb's family is all for him enlisting in the Marines.

When I asked Caleb if he had any parting comments he said he was looking forward to "kick' in" down doors and winn'in wars". We wish Caleb a safe and fulfilling career in the United States Marines.

Waiting for the ball, Hannah Akers stands at half court while waiting for the basketball.

On the field Hannah Akers is plays her trumpet while marching on the field.

We followed around Hannah Akers for one day to see how she spends an average day at school and afterwards. She takes Accounting, Algebra II, Chemistry I, Spanish II, English II, Band, Choir, and Ethics. On average, she has about two hours of homework each night, unless she finishes it at school. Hannah is involved in many things including Cross Country, Basketball, Softball, Band, Choir, Plays, Musicals, Marching Band, LEV, Student Council, and FCA, When asked why she is involved in these activities she said; "I try to be involved in as many activities as possible because it keeps me busy and I love being with other people. I play sports because I love being active and being a part of a team."

She has many things that she enjoys about high school. Some of these include being able to see her friends and her teachers. She loves being sociable and being at school allows her to be around people she can talk to. When she has a basketball game later in the day, she has many things she must do. This is what she replied with when she was asked this question. I get up like usual. I have to dress a certain way so that I match my team, On a normal day, Hannah said she will not usually eat breakfast, but on game days she makes sure that she does so that her energy stays up. I go to school and get through the day like normal. I try extra hard to get my homework done in class so that I do not have to do it when I get home late that night. After school, I usually go home for an hour or so, depending on when the bus leaves. I usually eat a small dinner before I leave to get on the bus. When we are on the bus to a game our team usually listens to music, but once we are almost to the school we start to focus on what we are going to do during the game. After the game, I go home and shower and then go straight to bed.

If she does not have a game, she usually would go straight to practice after school. Then she would eat dinner, do her homework, take a shower, and then go to bed.

If I were principal for a day....

We asked the students if they could be principal for a day what would they add or change, some of the suggestions were....

The bullying policy.

Upgrade the track and football field.

Change what time school starts.

Open campus for lunch.

Separate kids who want to be here from the kids who don't.

A new band room.

Choose your own seat.

Better funding for the arts.

Fix the plumbing.

Get out of school earlier.

No homework, it all has to be done in school.

Change the no hat rule.

More money for music.

Allow kids to have their phones.

No school on Fridays.

More time for lunch.

Not have exams because they stress students out.

Let the kids who can't take test in classes because they have bad concentration not take them in class. Let students listen to music. Reading together, Paiton Williams and Taylor Lodge study the drivers ed book together.

Advice to Freshmen

Freshman year can be hard. Starting high school is a scary thin, so we got some advice form the upperclassmen and teachers to help the Freshmen through this scary time. We wanted to show how high school really isn't that scary.

Seniors:

Don't believe in failure.

Don't stress the small stuff.

Always ask for help.

Get involved and have fun.

Drop fake friends and keep the real friends.

High school friends may not be there forever, but passions will.

Juniors:

Be involved in school activities.

Read, read! Knowledge is power!

Don't procrastinate on your homework.

A good sense of humor can get you through anything.

Make high school as fun as possible.

Sophomores:

You can say no.

Gain relationships with teachers.

Don't forget to turn in your work, finished or not. Respect the upperclassmen.

Teachers:

Get involved.

Keep up with your work,

Be goofy, everyone is.

Keep track of your things.

Be involved in something.

Popularity should never be your first priority.

Getting the job done, Jordan Christopherson concentrates on his experiment so he doesn't mess up.

Double checking, Tristan Akers overlooks Jamie Franck measurements.

Experimenting, Hannah Akers and Arika Glisan work together as partners on their experiment.

Clean up, Alyssa Keneey and Evan Sullivan wash their materials in the sink.

Exact measurement

Downtime, Wade Schnowske and Riley Nelson wait for the last hour bell to ring.

Hard at work, the English I class works hard on a project with the chrome books.

Listening intently, Taylor Lodge, Maddie Nuckles, Liz Ratliff, Ellsa Raley, and Dylan Bailey listen to what Mr. Price has to say.

What does it mean?

We asked a group of students and teachers what words students use today mean. Most of the students knew what the words meant but the teachers struggled a little.

Lit: Something that is amazing in any sense.
Students thought it meant cool or party, but the teachers thought it was short for literature.

Fam: Word use to describe your people. Ones that you can trust dearly, someone you consider family. The students thought that fam meant a really close group of friends or a "squad" while the teachers thought it was short for family,

Shade: Acting in a casual or disrespectful manner towards someone/dissing a friend.

Students thought it was when you talked badly about someone but the teachers thought it was just a cool spot out of the sun.

Ratchet: A Ghettoized form of the word Wretched: very unhappy,etc.: very bad or unpleasant: very poor in quality or ability.

The students thought that ratchet meant a gross or rude person while the teachers thought it was a tool used to fix things.

Savage: Someone who does not care about the consequences of his or her actions.

The students thought that it meant a rude person who says cruel things. Teachers thought that it meant an uncivilized person or a mean person.

Fleek: On point.

Students believed it meant on point or looking good. None of the teachers knew what fleek meant.

Good Bye

While we begin to wrap up the school year there are many people I would like to say thank you to. For starters I would like to thank the teachers and staff for allowing the yearbook staff and photographers to come into the classrooms and take pictures and drop off surveys to be completed. I would like to thank our sales representative Jim Straub for all of his help with uploading videos, technical problems, and just being there whenever we needed help. Last but not least, I would like to say thank you to Mrs. Anderson for all the hard work, time, and dedication she puts into making the yearbooks a great success each year. I would also like to say the students are going to miss Mrs. Anderson as she leaves teaching to go back to college next year. It will be different not talking with her every day about the yearbook and life in general.

To the underclassmen work hard and enjoy high school while it last. Go outside your comfort zone, try new things, who knows what you might find. Make as many memories as you can, don't hold grudges it will make you miserable, and try to stay positive and look for the good in everything.

To the upperclassmen, good luck to the seniors and their future and I hope life treats you well. To the juniors you have a year left lets make it a great one. Remember to always keep your head up and smile even on bad days. No matter where life takes you don't forget where you came from.

Congratulations to the class of 2016!

DearMarissa

We are proud of all your accomplishments these past four years.

Lover Mom and Dad

Dear Samantha,

It is hard to believe you were just a baby in our arms, not that many years ago, and as a new parents we worried about you falling as your little toes started you on your journey. Through your path, you have proven we have never had to worry about you falling. You have had incredible strength from the beginning and continue to shine from each stride you take. We are so proud of you and also have great pleasure watching you continue to excel. You are amazing and always remember that.

Congratulations to you as a 2016 CHS Graduate!

With great pride and love, Mom and Dad

Dear Sis,

I am so happy for you graduating this year. I love you so much and I am proud of you. I hope you will love the nursing career after college. I know you will be great at it. Congratulations 2016 CHS graduate!

I love you, Madi

Dear Samantha,

It's hard to put on paper what I feel in my heart I'm so proud of you and I know that you will succeed in all you do. The opportunity is out there, give it your best Congratulations Graduate!

Love you always, Grandma Deb

Dear Samantha,

I am so proud of you, my granddaughter. You are a hard working young woman and you have set goals for yourself. Beside going to school, you have studied so hard for your CNA program through Black Hawk. And, you have worked two jobs, Hillcrest and DQ, between studying. I know you will be a great nurse. I am glad we can still find time to spend together as I treasure the visits.

Love always, Grandma Sharon
