BEVERLY ANDERSON: During the day she really has fun, but never before her work is done.

MARIETTA ANDERSON: Her serious thoughts are on social service.

HARLAN FRANSENE: To have a car is really dandy; it makes the girls so much more handy.

MARGARET BENGTSON: Life is fast and often breezy, but as for me, I'll take it easy.

VIRGINIA EASTLAND: I love life and I want to live.

CAROLINE HUNT: Why be quiet when it is so much fun being crazy?

ED JOHNSON: John Barrymore the second.

DONNA JOHNSTON: Why does it get so late so early?

LEO JOHNSON: His mind revolves around serious things.

JEAN JOHNSON: I'll see you in my dreams.

VERNON KLAWONN: In school he's quite demure; out of school we're not so sure.

EILEEN MANNING: When fun and work clash, why worry about work?

DONNA LUND: A wordly mind with just one interest.

SHIRLEY MCCONNELL: Quiet in the classroom but in grades she makes a boom.

DICK LINDELL: Never a dull moment when he's around; he keeps things going all over town.

HARVEY MCMULLEN: He may be one of our future "scientific farmers."

ROSE MARIE SCOTT: All through the day, I dream about last night.

JEROME SWANSON: "He lives the life of Reilly."

BOB PHILLIS: Give me a light bulb; I have a bright idea.

MARGARET VINCENT: Her dimples are always at play.

CLASS POEM

We the class of '47
Find to our regret, that the
Four years of our high school life have passed;
But we shall ne'er forget,
The joys and sorrows we knew and shared
While we were in that dear old place.
The parties, dances, games we've had
Have made us far from sad.
Reports and tests—our dislikings,
Have proved to us that we are Vikings.

We, the class of '47
Have dear old Cambridge High
In memory strong and bright,
To serve us as a guiding light;
To lead us through the years to come,
Through smiles and tears; work and fun.

We the class of '47
In attempt to forge ahead,
Will cherish all those words of wisdom
That our teachers have oft' to us said.
Now we wish to say good-bye
To friends and classmates dear,
And trust that we again
May meet in many a future year.

CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Class of 1947, residents of Cambridge Community High School District and students of Cambridge Community High School, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make, declare and publish this our Last Will and Testament, hereby expressly revoking all other wills or testaments made by us at any time heretofore.

First: We direct that all our debts, including our graduation expenses, expenses of our last year, and the expenses of the administration of our estate, be paid by our executors, hereinafter named.

Second: We give, devise and bequeath to all the underclassmen, the abilities of all the members of the class pertaining to conduct in class, means of getting along with the faculty and any other such traits that can be used by them.

Third: We hereby will and bequeath:

Harlan Fransene wills his Geneseo trips to some nice, handsome, underclassman.

Jerome (Chic) Swanson wills his Saturday night trips to the cities to Myron Naugle. He can use his motor scooter if he wants too.

Vernon Klawonn wills his nickname to Everett Schnowske.

Leo Johnson wills his timidity in class to Leo Lamb.

Edward Johnson wills his masculine build to Wallace Yoder.

Harvey McMullen wills his ability to make bright remarks in Ag class to Forrest Hayes.

Jean Johnson wills her ability to wear sweaters to Betty Munson.

Bob Phillis wills his football ability to Charles Wiquist.

CLASS WILL

Marietta Anderson wills her ability to get good grades in her classes to John Craft.

Margaret Vincent wills her ability to talk in English class to Jean Marie Wallace.

Eileen Manning wills her quiet voice to Dorothy Williams. That is her quiet voice in class.

Virginia Eastland wills her ability to execute some of the most glamorous poses to some of next years seniors.

Carolyn Hunt wills her numerous boy friends to Dorothy Stach.

Donna Johnston wills her cheerleading ability to one of next years cheerleaders.

Margaret Bengtson wills her ability to type to Lovadee Reed.

Rose Marie Scott wills her ability to "get her man" to Joan Johnson.

Beverly Anderson wills her beautiful dark brown hair to Thelma Rosenquist.

Shirley McConnell wills her calmness to Erma Moline.

Donna Lund wills her ability to win A's on 4H work to Donna Lee Ladd.

Richard Lindell wills his ability to stay out of the ninth hour study hall to William Asplund.

Fourth: We hereby nominate the faculty of C. C. H. S. as Executors of this our Last Will, and it is our will that they be required to give no other than their personal bond as such executors.

EXTRA! EXTRA! READ ALL ABOUT IT!

The junior class of '47 would like to offer their professional services to those who desire assistance in helping to get rid of "that tired feeling." To get in touch with the one whose services you wish to enlist, call Mr. Noel Mosher in care of Cambridge Community High School. Listed below are the particular talents of each student:

MARGARET CLIFFORD: Her style of writing is humorous and clever.

WANETA DECKER: A musically inclined person has an enjoyable and lucrative talent for her own and other listeners pleasure.

JOHN FAIR: His particular abilities are in the direction of farming.

DONALD FITE: A newly discovered poetic talent is usually of vital interest.

BEVERLY GUSTUS: Blithely she pours forth the musical notes that give pleasure to the receiver.

DOLORES HOLLIDAY: An interesting career to prepare for is secretarial work—an occupation that is in much demand.

GERALD HULTGREN: By diligent study a mathematics student can make engineering his life work.

EVA MAE JOHNSON: Creative art ability cannot be attained by everyone.

LYLE JOHNSON: He, too, is a shining example of a "future farmer".

BETTY KELLY: Good housekeeping requires as much study and practice as any career.

ERMA MOLINE: An interesting and exciting career is that called modeling.

CAROL NELSON: A girl that enjoys and knows well the art of housekeeping is not discovered every day.

JANET OLSON: Her typing ability is well known.

CARL PETERS: Another farm boy will not be amiss.

JERELYN REED: She knows well her arguments on current world topics.

LOVADEE REED: She is skilled at sewing and design.

MARY JANE REILLY: Shorthand is a "cinch" for her.

THELMA ROSENQUIST: Mathematically inclined, she is the star of our advanced algebra class.

RAY SWANSON: This junior is interested mainly in mechanics and automobiles. P. S. Who isn't interested in the latter these days?

JEAN MARIE WALLACE: A stenographer's assistance is called upon many times by business men.

CHARLES WIQUIST: He knows his science.

SOPHOMORES

The sophmores!! There is very little that can be said about us as a whole because there are so many individual personalities. I can say, however, that we have the largest class in high school, good athletes (some gaining major letters this year), a lot of school spirit, more than the usual amount. Now to tell you about us as individuals:

DONOVAN ANDERSON: Here's a guy worth knowing.

EVERETT ASPLUND: He heads the class—in size.

EUNICE BRENNAN: She gets an "A" for appearance.

JOHN CRAFT: So Different!

ROBERTA CRAIG: Petite 'n sweet.

MARGARET DANFORTH: Popping with personality.

GILBERT DOBBELS: No vitamins needed here.

ROBERT DOBBELS: Downhearted, what's that?

LOIS FICKLING: From the tip of her toes to the top of her head—personality.

BARBARA FINCH: I've all the confidence in the world.

EARL GROSSMANN: Never a dull moment.

LEO LAMB: Time out for relaxation.

LEONARD LINDELL: He's bright; he's right.

BETTY MUNSON: Here's talent for you.

MARIAN NAUGLE: Away ahead—scholastically.

LAVERN PALMER: There is no substitute for me.

GLADYS PATTON: There's time tomorrow; so why worry about today.

BILL PHILLIS: He's in the swing of things.

ROBERT RYAN: One laugh per minute.

EVERETT SCHNOWSKE: The sky's the limit when you ride in my car.

DOROTHY STACH: There's fire in her eye.

MARY MAE STACH: I go where I will, and I get where I'm going.

DAVEYLEE STEPHENS: Fancy free.

GENE SWENSON: Rainy days don't dampen my spirits.

RUTH VINCENT: No sugar needed!!

PAT WELLS: As lively as the highland fling.

PEGGY WEXELL: Kiss the blues good-bye.

FOOTBALL

The '46-'47 football season started out with great promise for the CCHS football team. They opened the season with a win over Sherrard on their home field. The game was weak defensively for both teams but the Vikings cashed in on their breaks to win 42-8.

After their promising start the Cambridge team dropped its next two games to Alpha and Woodhull by scores of 50-6 and 50-0 respectively.

In their fourth game, the Vikings lost to Atkinson 55-6. They were hampered considerably by the loss of three of their starting lineup.

Cambridge staged their comeback in an almost entirely defensive game against New Windsor by a score of 12-8.

The next two games with Orion and Prophetstown were both losses for Cambridge. In the Orion game the score was close for the first half but then Orion took a big advantage in the start of the second half which was too big for the Vikings to overcome.

The seasons scores were as follows:

Cambridge	42	Sherrard	8
Cambridge	6	Alpha	50
Cambridge	0	Woodhull	50
Cambridge	6	Atkinson	55
Cambridge	12	New Windsor	8
Cambridge	0	Orion	38

BASKETBALL

The Cambridge Viking basketball season was the least successful for many years, having a record of 4 wins and 21 losses.

There were times during the season when the team looked like it might whip into form and become tournament contenders but they couldn't seem to pull out of their slump. The first win on the Viking record came with the third game of the season. Cambridge met their age-old rivals—Orion. It was a well played game and the score, 41-39, reversed the decision of an Orion-Cambridge game the preceding season. The next three games netted two victories and a .1000 per cent in the conference standings.

The Vikings then dropped into their untimely slump and never pulled out again until they met Alpha at the Alpha gym late in the season.

There were times during the season when Cambridge proved that they had some real basketball ability. Advantages were gained on their opponents but they were unable to follow them through.

The closest game played by the Vikings all season was the Geneseo game played on the home floor. The visitors gained the decision of one point in the last seconds of play by a free throw by Fassett. The final score was 33-32.

The seasons scores were as follows:

TRACK

In the track season of '46, Coach Warren Page's first Viking track team placed fourth in the conference track meet held in Orion. They were topped only by Orion, Woodhull, and Atkinson. This was an exceptionally good rating considering the small track squad that year. Although there were no blue ribbons won by Cambridge there was a generous portion of second and third place ribbons awarded to Viking tracksters.

The places were:

Fresh-Soph relay (Anderson, Swanson, Fite, Asplund) 440 yd.—2nd

Varsity relay (Dybdal, Metz, A. Anderson, Bengtson) 1 mile—4th

Mile Run (D. Phillis) 3rd

440 yd. dash (Bengtson) 3rd

220 yd. dash (Dybdal) 3rd

Broad Jump (D. Lindell) 4th

Shot Put (Fair) 2nd

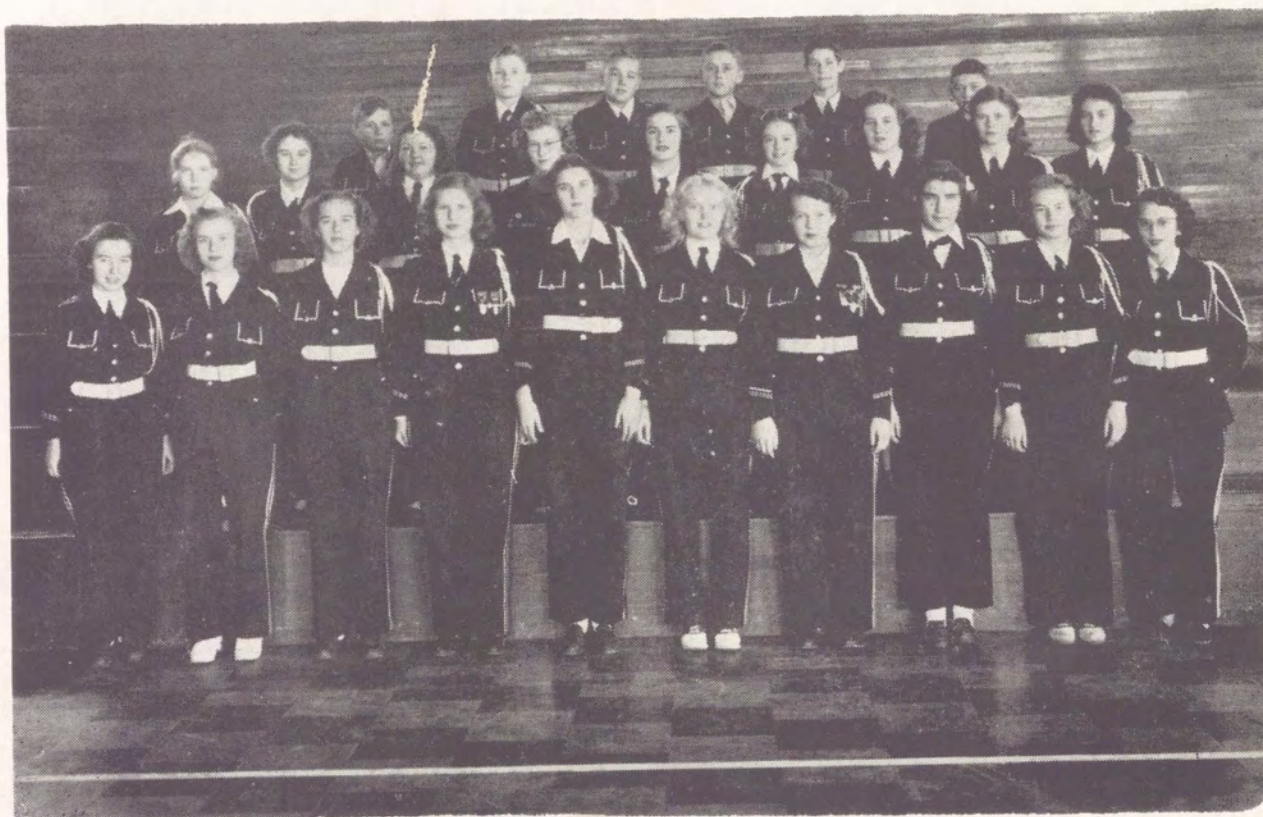

The scores were:

Orion	57½
Woodhull	30
Atkinson	25
Cambridge	21
Alpha	18
Sherrard	17
New Windsor	10½

VOCAL MUSIC

At almost any time you come into the school building, you may hear the sound of singing voices coming from the music room. Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Dahlen we have this year several vocal organizations which have given concerts and furnished music for programs.

Choir I

This group is composed of girls. Its members are mostly upper classmen and more experienced singers.

President: Jean Johnson
Librarian: Caroline Hunt

Choir II

This group is also composed of girls. They are underclassmen and less experienced singers.

President: Margaret Vincent
Librarian: Mary Jane Reilly

Boys' Chorus

All of the boys interested in music are in this chorus.

President: Vernon Klawonn

MELODIERS

The Melodiers are a group of twelve girls chosen by Miss Dahlen from Choir I. The members are as follows:

Sopranos—Beverly Anderson, Beverly Gustus, Virginia Eastland, Waneta Decker

Second Sopranos—Jerelyn Reed, Dolores Holliday, Donna Johnston, Janet Olson

Altos—Eva Johnson, Roberta Craig, Marietta Anderson, Jean Johnson

SEXTET

The sextet is a group of six girls chosen from the Melodiers by Miss Dahlen. Its Members are:

Sopranos—Virginia Eastland, Beverly Gustus

Second Sopranos—Dolores Holliday, Jerelyn Reed

Altos—Eva Johnson, Jean Johnson

VIKING STAFF

The VIKING Staff again sponsored a carnival to help defray the costs of the publication. Each class elected a candidate for carnival Queen, and the public bought tickets and voted for the candidate of their choice. Margaret Vincent, senior, was elected Queen. The other candidates were Margaret Danforth, sophomore, Bessie Cook, freshman, and Beverly Gustus, junior. Their escorts were respectively, Vernie Klawonn, Earl Grossmann, Forrest Hayes, and Ray Swanson.

The VIKING Staff this year includes the following persons with Miss Westerlund as adviser:

Advisor—Miss Westerlund

Editor—Jean Johnson

Associate Editor—Ray Swanson

Business Manager—Marietta Anderson

Assembly Editor—Bob Phillis

Assembly Assistants—Eva Mae Johnson, Bill Phillis, Wallace Yoder, Joyce Lundell

PEP CLUB

The Pep Club is the only purely social girls' organization among our school activities. It has been very active this year in sponsoring lunch stands and selling basketball booklets at games. The club has also given several all-high school parties during the year. The officers are as follows:

President: Marietta Anderson
Vice President: Jerelyn Reed
Secretary-Treasurer: Joanne Carlson
Reporter: Phyllis Swan

P.C.B.

The P. C. B. Science Club has this year again been organized with the idea of promoting the interest of science among its members. The club has planned programs for the science clubs of neighboring schools besides taking a science tour in the spring. The officers elected for the year are:

President: Janet Olson
Vice President: Gene Swenson
Secretary-Treasurer: Thelma Rosenquist
Laboratory Assistant: Lavern Palmer

BAND

Our instrumental music has been under the direction of Paul Hultquist and Norman Rost for the past year. Because of lack of members the band has not been as active this year as previously, but we hope to build a good band for the future. Concerts have been given and members have been sent to annual music contests. The officers are:

President: Beverly Gustus
Vice President: Caroline Hunt
Secretary-Treasurer: Eva Johnson
Librarian: Dorothy Williams

F.F.A.

The Future Farmers of America have four ranks of advancement. The Green Hand is the lowest rank; then come Chapter, State, and National Farmers. The F. F. A. has sponsored several parties and lunch stands at the games. The highlight of their activities was the crowning of the F. F. A. Queen, Donna Lund, senior, at the Homecoming, December 13. Harvey McMullen served as the Queen's escort and crowned her officially. Her attendants were Marietta Anderson, Jerelyn Reed, Lois Fickling and Bessie Cook. Their escorts were Jerome Swanson, Donald Fite, John Fair, and Forrest Hayes. Some members of the club also went to the National Livestock Show in Chicago and reported a very interesting and enjoyable trip. The officers are:

President: Harlan Fransene
Vice President: Donovan Anderson
Secretary: Leo Johnson
Treasurer: Leonard Lindell
Reporter: John Fair
Sentinel: Vernon Klawonn

TO PROVE THE POINT

The study hall clock keeps on ticking and tocking,
And there goes that boy with hole in his stocking.
Sauntering up to the sharpener, he turns round the crank,
His poor pencil suffers, for look how it shrank.
He turns half around, throws a grin at the girls,
On the way to his seat, he rumples some curls.
Now, braver than ever, he tosses his book.
The study-hall teacher aims the dirtiest look;
He picks up the book and resumes his seat,
An angel from heaven, now isn't he sweet?
But directly the teacher again turns her back
The fellow next to him gets a terrible whack!
Around swings the teacher, high on tip-toes,
But alas and alas, to the sharpener he goes.

ON "IT"

The fact that American people are intelligent is shown by some of the words they use in everyday speech. It is said that we Americans have one of the most complicated languages in the world: in some instances we have two or three altogether different words meaning the same thing; but how many of us use these various synonyms? Very few. Instead, we try to exercise mental gymnastics by using a word which has thousands of meanings instead of a word that can mean only one thing.

Take, for example, the word "it." "It" is the most often quoted and most misunderstood word in the English language. When we meet someone on the street, the usual greeting is, "It is a fine day, isn't it?" But what or who is "it"? We haven't the slightest idea; but, since we are a proud people and cannot lower our standards, we reply, "Oh, yes, it is so nice and warm." This statement leads to even more confusion since neither the first nor second speakers know what the other is talking about.

This sort of confusion could go on for hours with each person concerned going slowly insane, but since time and space are limited, the moral of this incident must be conveyed to you: Never get yourself into a rut and waste valuable time trying to find a way out—as I just did.

"IN THE STILL OF THE NIGHT"

The night was still, under the influence of sleep which like a blanket spread over the house. All of a sudden a noise which sounded like an atomic bomb shattered the stillness. Pardon me. I sneezed.

ALL-AMERICAN BOY

Just who is the all-American boy of 1946? I'll tell you who he is. I don't know his name; I don't even know what he looks like or where he lives, but here he is just the same:

This boy might be from any high school in any town or city. He might be tall or short, light or dark, but an American boy. He stops at the corner drug store for a malt in the afternoon, and he likes to take his girl to the show on Saturday night, and when he has the chance, he'll rob his piggy bank and go all-out on a couple of tickets to the appearance of a big band in town.

Is having fun all this boy can think of? No, of course not. He goes to church on Sunday, and even once in a while he sings in the choir; but this takes some mighty tall persuading. He would rather sit in the congregation and watch the gal of his dreams in the choir loft. After all, what good does it do you to sing and have to sit in the back row where you can't even get a glimpse of her?

Doesn't he ever think of school work? Oh, yes. He has everything in on time and he somehow gets pretty fair grades, but he isn't the boy to stay awake nights worrying about it.

And what really completes our all-American boy is that he is an A-number one athlete. He was quarterback of the football team, played center field on the baseball nine; he's a whiz at dropping in baskets on the basketball squad, and he has even managed to get those long legs over the high jump to bring home some ribbons.

What more could you ask for than a fellow who loves music, sports, dancing, one who is honest and sincere; and, oh yes, he even has a Ford that runs exceptionally well, especially with a load of nine or ten kids.

THE GOLDEN TOUCH

I opened the storeroom door to let the cat in and was about to close it again. But, wait! What was that soft golden light on the floor? I quietly swang the door back a trifle. Then I knew and gazed at it with awe.

The sun flooded the dusty interior through dirt-streaked windows and diffused the white-covered furniture with yellow rays of light. Dust was illumined by the sun and could be seen swirling about the room making the motes like a thin veil of gossamer floating over the sun-lit floor.

To add to the tranquility of it all, a domesticated member of the tiger family strolled idly over to an especially sunny position and proceeded to delicately wash behind his ears. Having laved himself sufficiently, he completed the pleasant scene by settling peacefully down in the warmth of the early morning sun.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF SANTA CLAUS

I remember well my first meeting with old St. Nick. My mother, assuming that I would enjoy the visit, took me to a department store one afternoon. As I came into toyland, I started examining the playthings with great delight.

"This won't be so bad after all," I decided.

Then suddenly through the room roared an, "Oh, ho, ho, ho!" This nearly frightened me speechless. Then I saw him. He was a big fat man dressed in the traditional red suit. To me he looked like a gruesome monster.

"Now get in line with the rest," Mother urged. But she had to shove before I got behind a giggling girl. There were three little darlings ahead of me, and each in turn sat in Santa's enormous lap. Then it was my turn. If I hadn't felt it a cowardly thing to do, I would have run. Instead I sat on his lap.

"Have you been a good little girl?" he bellowed.

Having very seldom been a good little girl at that tender age, I was at a loss for words. The times I had torn the telephone apart, pulled the flowers out of their pots, bitten the dog, and played with the gasoline all ran through my mind.

"Of course you have!" he roared. "And what do you want for Christmas?"

I whispered my few desires when suddenly I had an inspiration. This wasn't Santa Claus at all! Why I could even see where the whiskers hooked on. Just one little pull and I could expose the old fakar. Then I caught my mother's eye. She must have been reading my thoughts; so I decided I'd better not yield to my impish impulse to disclose Santa's hypocrisy. The old rogue must have divined my thoughts, too, for he quickly deposited me on the floor at that moment.

It goes without saying: I never visited Santa Claus again.

All Garments Insured Against Fire, Theft and Moths

A soldier on the march felt something in his boot. His toe became painful and he was limping badly by the time he got back to camp. He took off his boot and sock to bathe his blistered foot and found a pellet of paper lodged in the toe of the sock. On it was written: "Good luck to the soldier who wears these socks."

The soldier didn't like the food served him in the restaurant. The meat was undercooked, the greens waterlogged, and the potatoes lukewarm. Leaving it untouched, he called for his bill, and the waiter was shocked.

"Wasting food like that!" he said. "Don't you know that food will win the war?"

"Maybe," retorted the soldier, "but who's gonna get the enemy to eat here?"

Asked by his hostess to tell her about relativity "in a few simple words," Einstein said: "Madam, I was once walking in the country on a hot day with a blind friend and said I could do with a drink of milk.

"'Milk?' said my friend. 'Drink I know; but what is milk?'"

"'A white liquid,' I replied.

"'Liquid I know,' said the blind man, 'but what is white?'"

"'Oh, the color of a swan's feathers.'

"'Feathers I know. What is a swan?'"

"'Swan? A bird with a crooked neck.'

"'Neck I know—but what is this crooked?'"

"'Thereupon I lost patience. I seized his arm and straightened it. 'That's straight,' I said. Then I bent it at the elbow. 'And that's crooked.'

"'Ah,' cried the blind man, 'now I know what you mean by milk!'" "
